

19th International Conference on Science and Technology Indicators

"Context Counts: Pathways to Master Big and Little Data"

The STI/ENID 2014 conference will be held 3 - 5 September 2014 in Leiden, the Netherlands. The conference will focus on the social science of STI indicators, the context in which indicators function, and the increased availability of data for indicators.

We specifically invite submissions of research on the following topics:

- New and advanced indicators on measuring science in all its dimensions (including altmetrics)
- Theoretical foundations for measuring research in social science and in information science
- Science policy studies

Hence we welcome contributions on the following topics:

- altmetrics
- author level bibliometrics
- career development
- collaboration
- funding impact assessment
- interdisciplinarity
- networks
- patent analyses
- research evaluation

- research management
- research policy and science management
- science indicators
- science policy
- simulation studies
- societal impact or quality of research
- structuring science

- systemic and behavorial effects of evaluations and indicators
- technology and innovation studies
- theoretical foundations
- university indicators and rankings
- webometrics

Key dates

28 February 2014:

Deadline for submission (papers and posters)

31 March 2014:

Deadline for submission of special sessions

15 June 2014:

Notification of acceptance (papers and sessions)

Contact

http://2014.sticonference.org or http://sti2014.cwts.nl e-mail sti-2014@cwts.leidenuniv.nl

Submissions

- Short paper (max 3,000 words) with a comprehensive description of a completed study
- 2. Research in progress paper (max 1,500 words)
- 3. Poster (max 1,000 words) with an abstract of the
- 4. Special event (details and criteria to be posted on the website)